

for there he gave
her perhaps 157 or 20 to a piece. I do not know exactly how much.

He has now issued
a "uniform" edition
of everything he
can get of hers.
I have seen several volumes. One contains my memoir of her,
& just Ranaper. The story of a short life & Daddy Darwin.
It is a very ugly

My dear Dr. Gray -

I waited till I got back here, before
answering you about Roberts', as I hoped to find some details
amongst my father's
papers relating to
their transactions.
but I have not
succeeded in finding
much.

All that I am sure

of it that since
"Jukranapes" was published by the
S.P.L. in 1883
Roberts has paid
nothing for that, &
all the other books
he has issued.
He was angry that
she began to publish
with S.P.L. instead
of Bell because
S.P.L. has an agent
(Totts & Young) in New

York. & of course
the English edition
was circulated
through them.
Roberts produced a
facsimile of Jukranap^{es} cuts & all. directly
it came out, &
sent my sister one
copy. price $\frac{1}{2}$ a dollar
I believe!!
Previous to 1883 he had taken "early
sheets" of 3 books
of hers. Great ^{Emergency}

I forget which other

wife my kind
love. I look back
with much great
pleasure to our
lake meeting.

- & I look forward
to reading the
"Reminiscences"

edition. I think
the margins are
so narrow a pos.
Please do not take any honor about
Robert. so long as there is no legal protection of copyright
he must expect
to be plundered!

I am now going
to bring out an
enlarged edition
of Mother's book

on "fundials" ^{with Bell} their moltses" ^{of some.} & want 200 subscribers ^{at 10/6 each}

So as to pay for
the cost of production,
but I hope I shall
get there in England.
as I do not think
American readers w^d
take much interest
in the subject.

However - I might not to say this perhaps

for Whittier's lines
on a Dial are some of the most fine that I know!

I hope that you
& Mr. Gray have had a pleasant
visit at Miss North's - & will
get safely home
ere long.

Please give your
